The Stars Say--

For Wednesday, June 4

A VERY lively day is forecast from the leading positions of Mars and Mercury, giving strong impetus to all constructive effort, especially as applied to promotion, publishing, and literary pursuits generally. Initiative and enterprise will react to high stimulus, mainly in dealings with corporations, mergers or secret societies. But conservative manipulation of funds is recommended since there is a sign read as perilous to finances. Speculation and investment are under hazardous sway and loans would prove risky.

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a very active and eventful year with the mental forces and faculties under high stimulus. They are enjoined, however, to be careful in the use of finances in loans, investment or speculation, as these are under a perilous direction. The tendency to rash and impulsive words and deeds should be suppressed. A child born on this day may be restless, high strung and volatile but should be mentally brilliant and progressive. Yet it may be disposed to gamble or take long chances, thus defeating its success unless trained in frugality and thrift.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS TO GET SCHOLARSHIPS

Educational Awards Valued at $20,000 Provided for Ohio Winners.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 5—Scholarships representing $20,000, provided by the state board of education and various Ohio universities and colleges have been definitely set aside for the winners of Ohio's statewide high school senior examination and intelligence awards.

These will go to the aptest pupils, in points of papers and records submitted, who on April 19 participated in the first general scholarship contest for high school seniors. The names of 117 who stood highest among those who took the tests are being sent to the presidents of the various institutions at this time.

Though the plan of the contest was not submitted to the Ohio colleges until a very late date—not until many of them had formulated their plans for the year, a surprising number of schools and colleges had been reported as able to arrange scholarships this year.

In order for one persons to use all these scholarships it would be necessary for him to go to school 170 years.

Among the schools offering scholarships are Defiance, Kent, Lake Erie, Marietta, Mt. Union, Muskingum, Ohio State University, Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein, Wittenberg and Wooster.

The following colleges have indicated that they will cooperate: Case, Miami, Western College for Women and Western Reserve university.

Two thousand nine hundred and twelve high school seniors representing 81 counties participated in the contest. Each senior was picked by the faculty because of his outstanding qualities.

Specify SWP and engage a good painter

Why SWP costs less on your house than any other paint

What will it cost to paint your house? This is what concerns you—not what the paint costs per gallon.

While fine old SWP costs more per gallon, it costs less on your home than any other paint. Why? Because one gallon of SWP will thoroughly paint almost twice as much surface as a gallon of cheaper paint. Therefore fewer gallons of SWP are needed.

So—ignoring the fact that SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint, and that its weatherproof colors retain their beauty to the very last—the first cost of painting your house with the world's best house paint is actually less than that of cheaper paint. Buy your paint on a job basis and save. Let us prove it to you by simple arithmetic.

Roy N. Lovett, agriculture teacher of Green Camp school, will leave for Europe July 6. He will travel through France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, Belgium and Great Britain.

He will send a letter to the president of the Sophomore class, of which he is class adviser, telling about his travels. This letter will be read before the class at their next meeting.

A one-time American submarine chaser with 1,000 cases of liquor aboard, together with her crew of twelve, was captured off Norfolk, Virginia, by the coast guard this week. Picking Pictures Out of the Air.

When that most popular of all North Atlantic passenger carriers, the steamship America, of the United States Lines, Inc., sailed from New York for Europe, Wednesday, she was equipped with a radio installation capable of picking up stock tables, letters, pictures, checks and other printed matter—an absolute innovation in steamship radio installation.

The reproductions of the printed slips taken from the air at sea will measure about four by eight inches,—which will speed up communication amazingly for the reason that the entire picture or page of printed matter is flashed at once instead of by the dots and dashes of the old system. The pictures and news thus sent through the air will furnish all the copy for the daily paper printed abroad the America, which will include advertisements sent by radio from the United States. The matter, so a representative of the Radio Corporation of America announced from Atlantic City preceding the sailing of the big cabin ship, will be sent on short wave lengths from transmitting stations at New Brunswick, New Jersey, and Rockpoint, Long Island.

At present the America is fitted only with a facsimile receiver. It is possible that a facsimile transmitter may be installed later by which pictures and pages of reading matter may be transmitted as a whole from sea to shore, and two-way instruments may soon be installed on other North Atlantic liners if the service on the America proves all that experiments have caused the radio people to expect from it.

It was not so many years ago that the transmission of dots and dashes through the air was considered a wonderful achievement. Then came the transmission of the human voice in the same way to amaze us. A few years ago the comparatively slow process of transmitting pictures by the dot-and-dash system was perfected. And now television and the flashing of pictures and pages of reading matter for reproduction are actualities.

We are certainly speeding right along in the realm of discovery in this age in which we live.

Some Utterances on War.

The dedication at Flanders Field cemetery of the first of the memorial chapels the United States is erecting in the cemeteries of Europe in which American hero dead are buried brought to public notice the fact that the people of the nearby town of Waereghen hold Memorial day services in the American ground just as though the dead therein were their own.

The chapel is a tower-like structure of white sandstone standing in the center of the cemetery. Surrounding it are 365 crosses of white marble marking the graves of the same number of American dead, while on the candelabra standing at either side of the white marble tomb in the interior of the chapel are engraved the names of forty-three American soldier dead whose resting places are unknown.

In accordance with what the passing years have made an annual custom in Flanders, the ceremony was deferred from Friday until Sunday, that the entire local citizenry headed by the burgomaster of Waereghen might be in attendance. There were also present thirteen Gold Star mothers whose loved ones are buried there, a couple of hundred members of the American colony in Brussels, the members of the Brussels post of the American legion, a number of high Belgian officials, Ambassador Hugh Gibson and General John J. Pershing, the chief speaker of the day.

Without going into the address of the general it is interesting to note how different was the tone of his utterance from the recent speeches of the premiers of Italy and France. They dwelt on the preparedness of their respective lands for war and glorified their war machines, if not war itself, while this grizzled American veteran made manifest that he thought of wars in the past with regret and hoped for the abandonment of war for all time.

"Today the world longs for a definite understanding between peoples," the general said, "and all of us who know the meaning of war sincerely hope the effort for peace will continue and that war will be banished from the earth."

It should be pleasing to Americans to know that while some in high places in foreign lands laud the power of their military establishments and are given to the occasional rattling of the saber, the man who was in command of our forces in France deprecates war and hopes for its effacement from the earth.

The report of the secretary of the "National Society of Penal Reformation" criticising Warden Thomas and the Ohio general assembly as a result of the Ohio penitentiary fire loses much of its impressiveness with the revelation that the society is an organization of convicts and representatives of convicts who boost the "Mutual-Welfare-League"-of-prisoners idea for the management of prisons.

Commencement Days.

From high school, college and university class-rooms there is issuing a great body of young men and women to take new places and do new things in the world. In the months to come they will be scattered, literally to the four corners of the earth. Into offices, factories, industries, higher schools, social activities and homes they will go. Some will go to foreign lands and many into new communities. In a short time each will have found some task awaiting his hand.

These June graduates are products, ready for use. The rough places which the educational system has not completely removed will soon be worn smooth by the constant, shifting contacts of the world, and in a very short time indeed they will have become productive members of society. Education has made them more valuable.

Commencement calls for the play of many emotions. There is joy that work has been completed and that a forward step in progress has been marked. There is sorrow and the constant forward movement of humanity causes leave-takings and separations from familiar and loved places. There may well be, too, in the commencement season a feeling of gratitude for the educational system and the social machinery which make education possible in the United States. It is no longer the privilege of a few; this month's graduating classes represent every nationality, color, creed and caste.

It is becoming, also, that men and women who have given instruction be remembered at commencement time. They stand to one side while the graduating classes march by, but their part is the greatest of all. Year after year they have given their lives to others, often with little thanks. Graduates—before you leave your classrooms for the last time tell your teachers that they have helped you. That is the one reward that will compensate them.

In line with announcements from many savings institutions, Postmaster General Brown has announced that postal savings increased ten per cent. between July 1 of last year and the last day of February of this. And here we have possibly what was the chief factor in the business recession from which the country is emerging. People have money, but they are scared and afraid to spend it.

The secretary of agriculture of New Jersey recently broadcasted the statement that the losses occasioned by insects in the United States annually exceeded $1,000,000,000. Possibly the experts in various lines who tell us of the billions we lose yearly as the result of this, that and the other have never stopped to figure up their totals. Had they done so, they very probably would scale their individual estimates down a bit.

The resignation of Dr. Max F. Meyer, the former psychology professor of the University of Missouri of sex questionnaire fame, whose services had been retained as a member of the summer faculty of the Ohio State university, has been accepted by the trustees of the latter institution. It may be taken that both universities considered his questionnaire mighty bad psychology.

INCOME TAX—OR WHAT?

The eighty-ninth general assembly, which meets next January, will, in all probability, enact a new tax law for the state which will affect property and persons not now on the tax books.

Necessity for this arises out of the adoption of the amendment to the constitution which provides for the classification of property and limits the tax rate on real estate.

Revenues from this source will decline. Other sources of income will have to be tapped to secure the money necessary for government of the state, county and city.

A committee, named by Governor Cooper, is now at work endeavoring to find these new sources of revenue. This committee has been divided into twenty-one subcommittees, each working on a different problem.

In some of these committees there is a growing sentiment for a personal income tax and a reduction of the tax on farm land. Also for a sales tax, a chain store tax, an increased auto license tax, an increased gas tax, a tax on bank deposits, on stocks and bonds, on mortgages and personal property.

Perhaps you, as a taxpayer, are in favor of all these taxes. And, again, perhaps you are not.

But the main point is, that the governor's committee will not write the new tax law. That will be done by the legislature.

And long before the governor's committee will be able to formulate any kind of a report or suggest any kind of a tax bill, the legislature will be in the process of election.

On or before June 13, petitions of candidates for the legislative primary will be filed. From those candidates the next general assembly will be selected.

If you are interested in the kind of taxes to be imposed, or if you desire to be represented in the deliberations on a new tax law, demand that men of ability, character and integrity be found who are willing to make a sacrifice of their time in order to accomplish something for the public good.

The next legislature will be the most important that has been elected in years.

It will not only have before it the recommendations of the governor's committee, but it will be besieged by lobbyists of every interest and group in the state.

All will be seeking means to shift the tax burden to interests other than those they represent.

The legislature will have a mass of information on the methods of tax raising, but it will have very little on the methods of tax spending.

The legislature, if it enacts a fair and equitable tax law, should have before it all the information on tax raising and tax spending.

While the governor's twenty-one committees are busily at work finding new ways in which to increase taxes, the governor should have another committee as busily at work seeking means to curb useless tax-spending.

Just how much it costs to collect a tax dollar has never been determined. The amount of waste in governmental machinery is an unknown quantity. There may be useless bureaus and commissions that are engulfing public funds without reason. There certainly is duplication of effort in all governmental departments that is wasteful. Modern methods, with the elimination of red tape, might save tax money for better purposes.

All of this information could be secured easily by a competent committee. It certainly would be informative for the legislature.

This is a good time for it. Why not have it?—Columbus Citizen.

"MASTER HERO OF THE NIAGARA."

An adventurer took Memorial day as occasion to navigate the Niagara rapids and whirlpool in a barrel. He came through the ordeal all right, with a casual helping from shore in getting through the eddies, and is now able to pose as having made a contribution to science at least as useful as any flag pole sitter, or an aviator who breaks the weekly record for looping the loop. He has demonstrated that a thing can be done, however unpointed the object of it.

The biggest part of the entertainment was the legend this daring spirit painted upon his barrel. He proclaimed himself as "The Hero of Niagara, 1910-1930." Here is a fair sample of the vainglory that seems to be inseparable from every modern effort in the field of amusement and daring. It shows that the generation has appropriated one ancient proverb, never to hide its light under a measure. This art of showmanship is by no means limited to brave souls who dare the perils of Niagara. The fellow who runs for office, the high trapeze artist, the saxophonist all proclaim their quality, and make a boast of excellence not second to that of the fellow who is the particular hero of the Niagara and more than eager to admit the title.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Chance and Your Diet.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It has been said that the normal person, when free to choose, will select the food best-suited to his needs. It is true enough that most persons will eat enough food. But whether that food is of the right kind is entirely another question. On the other hand, there are too many persons who eat too little for the body needs.

Diet is a very important thing, and you can't leave to chance, to the dictates of your appetite, or to taste just what is good for you. It is not so simple as that.

Every one should learn how to avoid nutritional failure. There are plenty of sources from which to draw information on the subject. The libraries, the schools and the lecture room afford plenty of knowledge in nutrition.

There are four factors that should always be considered. They are the fuel requirements of the body, for which there must be fuel to produce energy; the protein intake; the mineral substances, and the need of vitamins.

A normal six-year-old boy requires a total daily average of about 1,600 calories. Calories are units indicating the energy-producing value of food. We must have energy to run this machine—the body. Girls require a slightly lesser amount, 1,500 calories.

At ten years of age the average boy needs about 2,300 calories daily to furnish him with enough energy for his so active life. A girl at this age requires about 2,200 calories. During the next few years the girl's needs slightly exceed the boy's. At fifteen the boy's needs are again greater—3,800 calories daily, while a girl's needs are about 3,200.

The protein of milk, cereals, legumes, such as peas and beans, and other vegetables are all readily utilized and are important in the diet of every growing child. A child needs at least one quart of whole milk every day.

It is difficult to set a guide for everybody in selecting the amount of proper food elements needed. In general it has been estimated that the average adult needs proteins 118 grams, carbohydrates 500 grams, and fat 56 grams.

A vigorous, active boy puts forth an enormous amount of energy in a day. He burns up a great deal of fuel through his incessant play and muscular activity. This is true to a lesser extent of the girl.

It is necessary to include in the diet the vegetables and fruits that contain iron, lime, phosphorus and other minerals, so necessary to bone structure. These minerals also take part in the formation of many organic compounds to form the cell structure.

If you are to protect yourself and your children from those diseases which we call the deficiency diseases, if you want health, strength and a vigorous constitution to withstand the rigors of living, you will need to regulate the diet in such a way as to furnish all the food elements needed by the body in the work it must do.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

New Social Sciences.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

It has long been recognized that the older disciplines—politics, economics, history and jurisprudence—are fully entitled to be ranked as social sciences. The developments of modern life, the increasing incidence of human relationships, have shown the marked interdependence of these four social sciences. These sciences not only depend upon each other; they have reached such a strong interpenetration that they must be studied, not only separately, but with reference to their vital relationships.

Meanwhile, a new group of social disciplines has come to the fore, to press their claims to recognition as social or at least semi-social sciences. The characteristic feature of these newer disciplines, says Seligman, is that they arose at a time when a "growing recognition of the intertwining of all the human strands in the texture of life was leading to a disappearance of separation of the older sciences."

Anthropology is winning the attention of the modern world, as a natural consequence of the development of certain sciences, such as geology and geography. When the implements, ornaments and dwellings of ancient man, as well as the skeletons of ancient man himself, were gradually unearthed, they prompted the study of the conditions (political, economic and legal) under which ancient man dwelt.

Penology is another one of the modern social sciences which has steadily grown in importance. Today, great and close attention is being paid to the criminal, less as criminal than an individual. Crime is recognized to be, in part, at least, a form of disease, a symptom of individual and social unhealthiness. The recognition of social responsibility in the matter of both crime and disease marks the great scientific advance in the development of penology.

The modern—one had almost said the contemporary—science of sociology bulks enormously in the life of today. Its very comprehensiveness, all-inclusiveness, has served as a bar to its immediate acceptance as a science in the true sense. But it has long passed the stage when it could be truthfully called the most dismal of sciences. Sociology is the social science, the quintessence of all that we mean by the term "social science."

The association of scientific inquiry with social action is one of the most beneficial of modern contributions to the study of right living. It is a sort of human engineering—the putting into practice of those scientific theories and principles which promise effectuating improved social conditions and social relationships.

Ethics, education, philosophy, psychology, biology, geography, art and linguistics are steadily deepening in social influence, and are coming to be recognized as bearing within them the fertile seeds of authentic social sciences of the future.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 5—Stage mothers are more often than not targets for abusive sarcasm and comic paper hoots. Producers profess to abhor them, and yet the record stake mothers is largely one of unusual sacrifice and deprivation. Their devotion has studded the theatrical heavens with stars.

There are many who have gone without clothing, food and other necessities to be certain their ducklings have dancing and dramatic tuition. No phase of poverty has been too great for them to endure. And with success, they are perfectly content to remain in the background.

The mother of the Eatons—Mary, Doris, Pearl and Charles—is an example. She faced many managerial rebuffs to give her four children a place in the spotlight. Another famous stage mother is Mrs. Janis, mother of the talented Elsie. Wherever her daughter appears, she is usually in the wings.

Their singular devotion is an epica of the footlights. Miss Janis declines social engagements that do not include her mother. They have toured the world together many times and only illness has prevented Mrs. Janis from missing a single performance.

Arlene Stone, Fred's wife, and mother of Dorothy and Paula, has consecrated her life to her daughters. When Dorothy was co-starring with Will Rogers Mrs. Stone did not miss a night sitting up at her Forest Hills home to await her daughter and provide a midnight snack.

The mother of the Four Marxes believed in her sons when agencies were indifferent. She literally lived on crusts while they knocked about one-night stands. It was her indomitable courage alone that kept their feet firmly on the road to success.

While these are conspicuous instances, the list of others who have made a supreme sacrifice is long. In my mail one day was a note from a stage mother that was typical and read: "I saw my daughter's name in lights tonight. Tomorrow I go to a hospital for a grave operation—deliriously happy."

Dorothea Antel is carrying on with her Sunshine Shoppe in the Seventies. Confined to a bed for seven years as the result of a stage accident, she has made her living catering to professional folk with her line of feminine dainties.

This column today seems somewhat a saga of stage folk. It is written at a time when thousands of professionals are "at liberty" and facing an economic uncertainty they never knew before. Many are in want. Yet all people those of the stage are less given to bitterness in disaster. They may strut preposterously, mouth outlandish boasts and otherwise indulge a peacock flair for display—but they seldom whine. And what a world this would be with no whiners!

A letter—and the most aristocratic hand writing I ever saw—from a valet says he has just been discharged because he did not keep his master's collection of pocket lighters filled with gasoline. "He had twenty," he says, "and just happened to pick up the one that was empty."

They were discussing the season's dramatic lines with the biggest emotional choke. My vote goes to one in "Journey's End." The scene is a dugout in the hell and muck of No Man's Land where a war-weary group await the zero hour. A dull-witted sergeant apropos of nothing whatever, remarks: "I seen a robin this morning—singing."

The famous Bougereau painting which hung so long over the old Hoffman House bar has been sold to an Oklahoma millionaire. Maxfield Parrish's "Old King Cole," which similraly graced the Knickerbocker, has been reported in many places, but an art critic tells me it is displayed on the walls of the Racquet club.

Speaking of bars, we often wonder what became of the silent uncommunicative fellow who stood at the end of the bar at night. He drank from six to eight highballs at a stretch and walked out cold sober. Every saloon has its mystery man.—Copyright, 1930, New Yaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Washington soon will be the world's most beautiful capital. So says Sir Lionel Earle who comes from London to supervise the completion of the new British embassy. He is not so sure about skyscrapers in New York. The new British embassy in Washington will be the finest diplomatic establishment in the world. The United States, unfortunately, doesn't furnish its ministers and ambassadors with homes. Most of them have to rent their own. That keeps large diplomatic appointments away from men who haven't a lot of money. Why can't the United States do as well as England and make America's representation abroad properly impressive without its costing a private fortune?

Other nations help make Washington the world's most beautiful capital city. Perhaps we have a moral duty to help make other capitals beautiful.

Even the wise Chinese may get out of balance—or see things out of focus. Harbin, in Manchuria, has been counted one of the world's most "wicked cities." Suddenly Chinese police decide to "close up" the town. They stop checkers and dominoes as games injurious to the public welfare. Players protest they are not playing for money—just for fun. Stop it anyway, say the police.

Law is important. Common sense is even more so.

Mrs. A. V. Alexander, wife of the head of the British navy, announces she will keep ever fresh a basket of flowers given her by Mrs. Stimson, wife of the American secretary of state. As fast as the flowers fade they will be renewed in the same container and as nearly as possible flowers of the same sort and color. The gift came at the conclusion of the peace parley. There is something significant in the decision to keep the basket full of fresh flowers. May the hope of peace be kept alive in the hearts and minds of men! And may hope some day be translated into reality!

A preacher, seeing New York's most famous play, "The Green Pastures," says it is religion and magic. From an intellectual point of view it may not be religion at all—just magic and superstition. But religion is something more than the mind's reaction. It is something more than right, intelligent thought. Religion is emotion, too. Perhaps it is partly magic. A man's sentiment, his emotional reactions, his hopes, aspirations and ideals are as much a part of him as his capacity for serious thinking.

Woman's Hospital Board Elects Officers for Year

THE lawn of Limestone Place, home of Mrs. Daniel Evans, was given over to the Woman's Hospital board yesterday afternoon for its annual meeting and picnic. The annual meeting included election of Mrs. Carl Loffler as president for the coming year, together with her staff of officers, reports from activities of the year, and plans for the benefit garden party to be held July 1 at White Oaks Farms, west of Marion. The business meeting at 5 o'clock was followed by a buffet supper and bridge.

Members of the board expressed their appreciation for cooperation during the year to Mayor L. Don Jones, Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine, The Star and those who aided in a financial way for the Christmas ball.

Laboratory Established

One of the most worthwhile civic movements in Marion for some time was that to establish a laboratory at City hospital. With money raised at the annual Christmas balls, the board was able to install a fully equipped laboratory at the hospital. Miss Grace Anderson, technician in charge of the laboratory was a guest of the board yesterday and gave a report of the work since April 1. At that time the equipment was completely installed. Since that date, 100 pathological tests have been made, Miss Anderson reported.

Among the various activities of the board last year were its generous donation made to the landscaping at City hospital, the tea served on National Hospital day and the annual Christmas ball.

Mrs. James M. Gardner, who has taken an active part in the advancement of the board and its enterprises, was made an honorary member of the board.

Officers elected with Mrs. Loffler were: Mrs. Wilbur Symes, first vice president; Mrs. Ray Reber King, second vice president; Mrs. Howard R. To Require Examination of City Food Handlers [illegible] Commissioner, Makes Recommendation [illegible] City Board; May Also Take Steps To Provide Plumbing Code.

[illegible] a city ordi- [illegible] physical ex- [illegible] of every food [illegible] was laid at a [illegible] board of health, in [illegible] courthouse, yester- [illegible] vote to make it [illegible] measure requesting Dr. [illegible] commissioner, to [illegible] ordinance or resolu- [illegible] to the city board [illegible] was passed. After [illegible] approved the measure, [illegible] legislation will be sent [illegible] for the approval of the state board of health and then be submitted to council to become an enforcible provision of the city laws.

Dr. S. W. Mattox opposed the measure although he did not vote for or against it.

Have No Records

Need for such an ordinance was brought out in the meeting by Dr. Sifritt, who pointed out that no record of previous requirements of a physical examination for food handlers could be found on the health board records. He also said that no record of such examinations had been filed at the offices of the board other than dairymen, who must submit to such an examination to retain their milk selling permit.

The proposed measure will affect all grocers, meat handlers, restaurant and hotel employes and all others in any way handling food. Such persons will receive permits to handle food.

Need of plumbing code to insure proper plumbing of houses was also pointed out by Dr. Sifritt. Although not asking immediate action, Dr. Sifritt asked the board to consider a code requiring plumbers to obtain a license, making them responsible for their work. Inexperienced men would be required to give bond.

Measles Pervalent

Dr. Sifritt also revealed that a number of cases of measles have been reported in the city, the quarantine list now standing at 11. Many other cases have broken out in schools, and in one school nearly a hundred students were absent, principally because of mild attacks of measles.

Bacteria count averages in milk sold in May ran wild, a report of Dr. J. T. Gruber, milk and food inspector revealed. Bacteria count for pasteurized milk soared to 150,000 whereas around the 10,000 and 18,000 mark is considered good. Carelessness in one or two dairies was responsible for the high figure, Dr. Gruber explained. These conditions have been remedied.

In addition to those of Dr. Sifritt and Dr. Gruber, reports covering May activities were given by Miss Mabel Hastings, city health nurse, Miss Florence Spaulding, nursing supervisor, and C. M. Tobin, city relief and sanitary officer.

Gasoline of high grade and several byproducts are to be obtained from natural gas at a Colorado plant.

To Require Examination of City Food Handlers

Dr. N. Sifritt, Health Commissioner, Makes Recommendation at Meeting of City Board; May Also Take Steps To Provide Plumbing Code.

FOUNDATION for a city ordinance requiring the physical examination and licensing of every food handler in the city was laid at a meeting of the city board of health, in its offices in the courthouse, yesterday afternoon

Lacking but one vote to make it unanimous, a motion requesting Dr. N Sifritt, health commissioner, to draw up such an ordinance or resolution, to be submitted to the city board at its next meeting was passed After the board has approved the measure, the proposed legislation will be sent to Columbus for the approval of the state board of health and then be submitted to council to become an enforcible provision of the city laws

Have No Records

Need for such an ordinance was brought out in the meeting by Dr. Sifritt, who pointed out that no record of previous requirements of a physical examination for food handlers could be found on the health board records He also said that no record of such examinations had been filed at the offices of the board, other than dairymen who must submit to such an examination to retain their milk selling permit

The proposed measure will affect all grocers, meat handlers, restaurant and hotel employes and all others in any way handling food Such persons will receive permits to handle food

Need of plumbing code to insure proper plumbing of houses was also pointed out by Dr. Sifritt. Although not asking immediate action, Dr. Sifritt asked the board to consider a code requiring plumbers to obtain a license, making them responsible for their work. Inexperienced men would be required to give bond

Measles Persistent

Dr. Sifritt also revealed that a number of cases of measles have been reported in the city, the quarantine list now standing at 11. Many other cases have broken out in schools, and in one school nearly a hundred students were absent, principally because of mild attacks of measles.

Bacteria count averages in milk sold in May ran wild, a report of Dr J T. Gruber, milk and food inspector revealed Bacteria count for pasteurized milk soared to 130,000, whereas around the 10,000 and 18,000 mark is considered good. Carelessness in one or two dairies was responsible for the high figure, Dr. Gruber explained These conditions have been remedied

In addition to those of Dr Sifritt and Dr. Gruber, reports covering May activities were given by Miss Mabel Hastings, city health nurse; Miss Florence Spaulding nursing supervisor, and C M Tobin city relief and sanitary officer

Gasoline of high grade and several byproducts are to be obtained from liquid at a Colorado plant

EXCAVATORS WIN FROM PROSPECT 1-0

SOLDIERS BEATEN BY STEAM SHOVEL 25-4

Kappas Keep Clean Slate by Defeating Grocers, 8-5; Three Tied for Lead.

SOME of the city baseball teams seem to be attempting to emulate the feats of various major league outfits from the looks of various one-sided scores turned in for games this week. The U. B. nine, losers in its first two starts of the year, fired the first gun when it walloped the Presbyterians 18 to 1 on Monday night in a Sunday School league No. 2 game. Not to be outdone either in errors or hits, the Epworth Juniors kept the ball rolling on Tuesday by taking all the misplays and giving all the hits to Calvary to be overwhelmingly beaten by a score of 20 to 3.

Ordinarily that would be a great sufficiency of one sided games for a single week but apparently the soldiers of Company B did not think such should be the case. Whatever they thought did not hinder the Steam Shovel Commercial league entry from banging the sphere all over the field to hand the soldiers a 25 to 4 beating, the worst registered in the city for the 1930 season.

While the soldiers and the 'Iron' men were enjoying their wild slugging contest the General Excavators and Prospect Firemen were battling to a 1 to 0 deadlock with the Marion city team finishing on top of the heap.

Score in Second

Three hits in a row in the second inning for the Excavators proved enough for the undoing of the firemen. Gilmore connected safely in his first trip to the plate in this inning and was followed in succession by Connors and Franz. The final hit brought in the only run of the game.

The pitching of both hurlers was good enough to keep the opponents from hitting the ball very hard but both of them apparently were inclined to wildness, according to the number of walks registered in the scorebook.

Probably fewer batters made the trips to the plate in this game than in any other of the season thus far. Only 25 men took their turns at bat in the six innings for the Excavators and 28 among for the Prospect team in its seven innings of batting practice.

Score by Innings.

Excavators	010 000 x—1
Prospect	000 000 0—0

Batteries: Excavators — Gilmore and Franz. Prospect—D. Lauer and Hanson.

Loss Puts Grocers in Fourth Position

Serv-U-Wel grocers dropped out of a three way tie for first place having their place to the Shovel and Kappas by taking an 8 and 5 beating at the hands of the fraternity outfit. General Excavators are also in a tie with the Shovel and the Kappas with one won and none lost but have played but one game while the other leaders have competed in two games to date. Serv-U-Wel goes into fourth place as a result of the loss yesterday.

Rank, hurling for the Kappas, held the hard hitting grocers in check during most of the game. Four runs and three hits in the opening round at the plate was his worst inning. After going the eventual losers a lead he settled down and allowed but few batters to connect for safe blows.

The fraternity team did their run making in bunches. After scoring a single counter in the first the team put away their heavy bats and failed to touch all the bases again until the fourth inning. Three walks and a hit in the fourth were enough to count four times for the Kappas. The winners added three runs in the sixth frame on four hits and a walk.

The Kappas scored their eight runs on the same number of hits while the losers could turn their seven safe bingles into only two runs.

Score by innings:

Kappas	100 104 0—8
Serv-U-Wel	100 000 1—2

Batteries: Serv-U-Wel, Somerlot and Conkle. Kappas, Rank and G. Hinkle.

Home Runs Not Enough To Win for Soldiers

Two home runs, one by Amick and the other by Ickler, were directly responsible for three of the four scores made by the soldier boys in their game with the Steam Shovel nine. These three, supplemented by another counter in the seventh fell just 21 short of being equal to the flock of scores chased across the plate by the Shovel guns.

The soldier boys may have shot their wad while doing guard duty at our well known penal institution some time ago for they seemed reluctant to do any killing of Shovel runners once they got on the base paths. Eleven batters made the round trip for the winners before the first three man had been executed by the soldiers. What happened in the remaining innings doesn't matter much.

They were only a repetition of the first, except to a lesser degree. The fourth and fifth were the only two frames in which the Shovel did not score.

Score by innings:

Shovel	114 7 006 x—25
Co B	0 10 000 1— 4

Batteries. Shovel—Clark, Conkle, Roberts and Layman. Co B—Hickman and Youngblood.

TOLEDO SEMI PROS TO PLAY FIRST OF THREE GAME SERIES

Marion Merchants Engage Oldsmobiles in Sunday Game at Lincoln Park.

THE opening game of a proposed three game series between the Marion Merchants and the Toledo Oldsmobiles has been booked for Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park. The second game of the series will be played July 20 and if necessary to play a rubber game it will be August 10, according to Francis Bacon playing manager of the Merchant team.

Thus far this season the local Merchant team has won three games without a defeat being chalked up against its record. All the games have been won in fairly easy style, the Columbus Keystones putting up the hardest fight of the current season. Marion won the game 6-5 in the ninth inning.

For the past few years the invading Toledoans have been doing a better than average job of beating the locals. Not a single year has gone by without the locals being trimmed at least once by the up state team. This year may be the turning point if the predictions of Bacon & Co. turn out to be true.

Several new faces have appeared in the Toledo teams lineup as well as in the Merchants roster and a hard game is expected.

Dark Horse Appears To Challenge Belmont Race

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 5—A dark horse has appeared in the advance picture of the Belmont Stakes and as the result James Butler's silks may be flying in front of Whichone and Gallant Fox, when the pick of the three year old flash past the judges stand in the rich turf fixture at Belmont park Saturday.

Questionaire is the Butler horse figured to give Whichone and Gallant Fox a run for the money—if such a thing is done. In any thoroughbred in the mile and one half test. While lacking the impressive record that runs Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone and William Woodward's Gallant Fox as the co-favorites at even money, Questionaire has a mile and an eighth race in 1.49 to stamp him as a real contender.

REDS OUTHIT GIANTS BUT DROP GAME 8-5

Shakeup Fails To Produce Winning Combination; Cubs Win in Wild Slugfest.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DAN HOWLEY, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has become one of the leading expert centers of the National league as well as one of its leading traders.

The Reds as they are now, seem to have everything but the ability to make their hits count. They get plenty of blows, 84 of them in their last seven games, and frequently have good pitching to go with them, but still they lose the close decisions and games in which they have the best of the hitting.

Howley shook up his lineup again yesterday, putting Pat Crawford in the lineup and making Bob Meusel bat off. The result was good enough to produce 14 solid hits but not a victory. Their opponents, the New York Giants got but 12 blows but six of them came in succession from the first six batsmen in the opening inning and started the Giants off to a 6-1 lead and an 8 to 5 victory. Pete Donohue continued the act that the former Reds who now wear Giant uniforms have been staging by pitching a fair game and contributing a home run to his first victory for New York.

Cubs Trounce Braves

The Chicago Cubs trounced the Boston Braves, 18 to 20. The Cubs hit 20 times for 44 bases, getting six doubles, a triple and two homers and gave Harry Seibold and his two successors a bad time of it.

The Cubs fielded only two games behind Brooklyn as the Robins literally threw away a game to the Pittsburgh Pirates by a 12 to 6 score. The Robins made eight errors most of them on bad throws, and nearly every bobble meant a Pittsburgh run. The Pirates made five errors on their own part but not at such costly points in the game. This result left the Pirates only a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost the day's only round duel in the National league to Philadelphia, 2 to 1.

In the American league the leading Philadelphia Athletics beat out the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3 as Sam Gray, formerly the star of the Browns mound staff, lost his ninth straight game.

Senators Win in Tenth

Washington, in second place, scored three runs in the tenth to beat out the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 8 after Detroit had scored six runs in the last three regular innings to gain a tie. Early Whitehill was the victim of the rally and became the losing pitcher for the second successive day.

The Yankees dropped an 8 to 7 decision to the Chicago White Sox as Johnny Kerr followed the example set for him a few innings earlier by Babe Ruth and won the game with a run after two were out in the tenth inning. The Babe had tied the count in the seventh with his eighteenth homer of the year. Ed Morris of the Boston Red Sox proved better in the long run than Willis Hudlin of Cleveland and gave Boston a 5 to 4 victory in another ten inning duel.

SENATORS TAKE 16-2 BEATING FROM KAWS

Kansas City Nine Easily Beats Weakening Columbus Team.

By International News Service

The Columbus Senators were mauling the Kansas City Blues today, as well they might, after receiving a 16 to 2 drubbing from that outfit of the American Association yesterday when the Toledo Mud Hens climbed up in a tie for third place with the now demoralized Senators.

Led by Ben Ridge Day, former Arkansas hog caller, and now a promising hurler, who allowed the Senators only seven scattered hits, the Blues at their turns at bat annexed 19 hits. Day probably would have been credited with a shut out if it were not for two errors of his teammates.

The loss allowed Toledo to climb into a tie with the Senators. The Mud Hens vanquished the seventh place Milwaukee brewers for a 7 to 1 win. A four run rally in the eighth inning, which was featured by Conlan's steal to home plate, gave the Toledoans the ball game.

Louisville took both games of its double header from its nearest rival, St. Paul by 9 to 1 and 8 to 5 scores. The Colonels have been winning so steadily that it ceases to be news. When these lose, who, that's news. The Saints' prestige was weakened but not dangerously so. They still hold a small margin in second place. Wilkinson and Pelli were the winning pitchers for the Kentuckians.

STANFORD ATHLETE AFTER NEW RECORD

Harlow Rothert To Make Bid for New Mark in Shot Put in Saturday Meet.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 5—Nothing less than a world record in the 16-pound shotput will satisfy Harlow Rothert senior member of Stanford's great team of weight men—Rothert and Krenz—in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships at the University of Chicago Friday and Saturday.

In the eastern intercollegiates last week Rothert was less than the width of one of his powerful lunges away from the world record of 52 feet, ¾ inch, which he tossed the ball 52 feet, ¾ inch. Friday and Saturday he will go out with but one idea—to toss John Kuck's mark overboard.

Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, will return to try for another broad jump title after a year's lapse. Hamm was out of competition last year, but the year before won the event with a leap of 27 feet, 1⅛ inches.

One meet record already has been broken—the entry list. This year's includes 425 names, with 90 universities and colleges represented. Last years renewal of the event attracted 362 men from 79 institutions.

RCA Presents Mischa Elman As Guest Artist

THE RCA Hour will present as guest artist for the second time this season, Mischa Elman, Russian violinist in a concert of international music to be broadcast over the WEAF network, Thursday at 9 p. m. Elman will be assisted by a symphony orchestra under the direction of Rosario Bourdon.

Although he has lived for many years in the United States and has come to be regarded as an American artist, Elman was born in South Russia. He owes his musical education, and the resulting career which has brought him world-wide fame, to an accidental meeting in his early youth, with Leopold Auer, the great teacher of violin.

The master heard him play and at once made him one of his pupils. Overwhelming success in Russia was succeeded by an equally enthusiastic reception in London, and eventually in practically every great city of the world.

Among musicians the "Elman tone" is mentioned with something of reverence. It has a fullness of volume, a sensuous richness of quality that makes it unique, and it is used with extraordinary nicety of technique and musicianly understanding.

Broadway Star Headlines Rudy Vallee Program

Beginning her theatrical career as a chorus girl in George M. Cohan's musical comedy "Mary," Frances Williams has had perhaps one of the most meteoric careers of Broadway singers.

To better herself for her Broadway debut, she went into vaudeville and after a short time, Broadway saw her as a leading woman. Cast first in "Innocent Eyes" at the Winter Garden, she was the leading spirit in several editions of "Artists and Models."

It was there that she introduced one of the most famous dances of recent years, the Charleston, which soon swept the entire country and revolutionized ball room dancing.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

Von Stroheim in "The Great Gabbo"

"THE GREAT GABBO" is a great story, Von Stroheim is a perfect "Gabbo" and Betty Compson is an appealing "Mary." Too many musical revue moments slow up the show, but Stroheim and Compson save the picture. It's at the Ohio tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Von Stroheim has turned out two expensive pictures, "The Wedding March" and "Gabbo."

"Gabbo" is a wonderful character. Von Stroheim plays him as he should be played. "Gabbo" is a foreign born ventriloquist, whose real sweetness and gentleness of character is displayed only through his dummy, "Little Otto." To the world he is on top of the pinacle of egoism. His only thought is for himself and the success of his act. Betty compson, as Mary, his assistant, can stand his supreme egotism no longer, and leaves. To show Mary what he can do, Gabbo works relentlessly and finally lands on the "big time" as a headliner, with his name on the marquee lights. Mary is playing in a revue at the same theater.

Mary tidies his room and Otto while Gabbo is out, and when he returns he thinks she loves him. He is madly in love with her after two years separation and realization of her sweetness. He arranges a dinner party for himself, Mary and Otto, but she tells him as simply as possible that she is married to Frank, her dancing and singing partner. Gabbo goes stark mad and does not recognize even Mary. He rushes onto the stage in the middle of the finale and ruins the show. He wanders out into the street, carrying Otto, just in time to see the workmen taking down his name from the lights. H. H.

ONLY A DOCTOR KNOWS WHAT A LAXATIVE SHOULD BE

Danger lies in careless selection of laxatives! By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels feel of appetite or energy warns of constipation you risk forming the laxative habit.

Depend on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach disorders. Its originator tried it in thousands of cases; found it safe for women, children and all folks, thoroughly effective for the most robust man. Today, Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It is composed of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients. You can get it, in generous bottles and ready for use, at any drug store.—Adv.
